Hong Kong Graded Character Naming Test (HKG CNT) Provider Certification Workshop for Speech Therapists

《中文讀字測試》工作坊

Presenters

Dr. Man-tak Leung is currently an Adjunct Associate Professor in the Department of Chinese and Bilingual Studies of The Hong Kong Polytechnic University. His teaching and research interests include data corpora on Chinese and the theory and practice of language intervention. He is the lead author of HKGCNT published in 2008.

Dr. Cymie Ng is currently an Assistant Professor of Practice in the Department of Chinese and Bilingual Studies of The Hong Kong Polytechnic University. She is an experienced speech therapy clinician and clinical educator. Her teaching interests include speech sound disorders and written language disorders.

Workshop Description

HKG CNT is designed for use by professionals serving children with reading difficulties. It is a simple assessment tool through which a primary school child's reading ability can be compared with children of the same grade. Test results also provide specific information for therapeutic management. The test kit comprises a test manual, six different stimulus presentation sheets and six different recording forms for each of the different grades.

This three-hour certification workshop will cover:

1. Theory of Chinese character reading
2. Test development and standardisation
3. Test features and application
4. Implications for therapeutic management of reading difficulties
5. Practice and case discussion
6. Q&As
