

LINDEX

PRODUCT DEVELOPER TECHNICIAN - lingerie (Part time / Contract based)

Technical and sample management – secure quality according to Lindex standards.

- Ensure that products are developed consistent with the established fit and quality standards, within manufactories capabilities and cost specifications.
- In charge of sample approval in Hong Kong – from inquiry to production.
- Arrange and execute fitting on live models weekly.
- Keep every stage of the process as short and effective as possible, pro-active work with merchandising team to secure the timeline.
- Secure quality level with our supply.

Co-operation with external partners

- Business minded approach and communication with the supply chain.
- Have a clear overview of supplier's performance, both from a technical and quality aspect.
- Active in visiting suppliers (new and existing) when there is a need to secure production required standard.
- Supply chain evaluation performance management: Assess and appraise the sampling and production capability of suppliers within the sample development process – identify opportunities and work pro-actively with areas of improvement.
- Provide technical training to the business externally including advice and support related to garment fit, workmanship, pattern and grading.
- Initiate and drive pre-production meetings with supply chain when there is a need.

Co-operation with Buying office

- Close co-operation and communication with buying office garment technician to keep the process as short as possible and to secure product quality. Share knowledge and expertise.
- Pro- active approach to improve and develop the technical standard based on concept vision and set goals.
- Develop new ideas that can help to drive the business forward in the technical area.

Co-operation with other internal teams

- Close co-operation with internal teams: PD, Material sourcing, Testing and QC team, to secure and drive the business going forward.
- Close communication with merchandiser team to secure delivery on time and product based on concept vision.
- Provide technical training to the business internally including advice and support related to garment fit and workmanship.
- Drive, develop and secure goals and KPIs set for the concept together with the team.
- Project management.
- Act as a positive, supportive partner, demonstrating company values.
- Develop the role and its tools.

Profile needed:

- Able and want to take responsibility
- Goal and result oriented
- Business minded from a quality perspective
- Proactive with own initiatives
- Problem solver
- Customer/commercial thinking
- Strong communication skills and ability to work within a team
- Ability to prioritize well
- Lingerie production knowledge
- Pattern and grading knowledge to lingerie product
- Lingerie fitting experience
- Good English skills
- Able to travel offshore countries and mainland China

Key performance measurements:

- Performance according to MR (Main Responsibilities)
- Role KPI's
- Result based on personal and team goals
- Ability to act and live company values

Additional Information

Jobs Product developer technician, relevant to a garment technician- lingerie specific.
It could be Part time/ contract based, depending on the right candidate.

- Salary range: 20 000-25 000, negotiable. ALL depending on the right candidate.
- 13 months salary.
- 18 days annual leave.
- Medical package and insurance - AXA.
- Other benefits such as trainings, personal development, travels etc.
- Working hrs: 5 days a week (not on weekend and public holiday).
- Travel required to China and other Asian production markets, head office in Sweden on an occasional basis.

For candidate how are interested, please send email directly to: Xenia.Lo@lindex.com